SEI to Hold Cyber Intelligence Research Consortium Info Session in Arlington, Virginia

The SEI's Emerging Technology Center will host "Cyber Intelligence: What You Need to Know Now" on Friday, October 28, 2016, from 10:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon in Arlington, Virginia. The event will explore the role of cyber intelligence in the current threat landscape and ways in which organizations can better leverage cyber intelligence methods to mitigate cyber threats. The session will also present information about the Cyber Intelligence Research Consortium, a collaboration of the SEI, government, industry, and academic organizations. The event is free of charge, but space is limited.
